Need for the Project: We all believe that life and death are part of the concept of samsara, or rebirth. The ultimate goal is to become free from desire, thereby escaping samsara and attaining moksha, the transcendent state of salvation. Once moksha is attained, the soul will be absorbed into Brahman, the divine force and ultimate reality. Villagers informed the current crematorium facility is very untidy with grown thorn bushes, poor pathway , unpaved road, storage facility to store wood and becoming difficult to complete the formalities for a death person. In addition to that with growing population,visitors facing difficulties to attend the premises in inclement weather(rain etc.)without shelters and poor facilities
